VANCOUVER'S
Growing Chinese Investment Community

Over the past four decades, Vancouver has become the top immigration destination for wealthy Chinese investors. With Vancouver establishing itself as major economic hub in Canada, wealthy Chinese investors are shifting away from their traditional focus in real estate to look at opportunities with public companies, private companies and other investment products.

At least over 37,000 Chinese millionaires immigrated to British Columbia from 2005 to 2012 according to government figures. Vancouver is increasingly becoming home to Chinese immigrants, who make up more than 18 percent of the population. Most recently, Chinese investors have invested heavily in the real estate market. However, with the introduction of various government policies and rising interest rates, the focus of Chinese investors has shifted to other investment opportunities including equity investments, ETFs, and emerging sectors such as cannabis, blockchain, and clean energy.
